Capstone description

The Sports & Outdoor Product Design capstone assesses learners' ability to design and construct products for the sports and outdoor market. Sports & Outdoor Product Design 1 introduces basic skills in working with technical fabrics and creating industry projects, providing a foundation for employment opportunities. Sports & Outdoor Product Design 2 builds on these skills with intermediate-level design and construction techniques, emphasizing preparation for global careers and entrepreneurial opportunities in the outdoor and activewear industries. Student leadership and competitive events (such as FCCLA) may be integrated into both modules, reinforcing collaboration, innovation, and career readiness.
